

When the public sees an amateur radio operator who wants to help with communication, they hope that the person with the radio can help with the needed point to point and point to multipoint communications. With some HF privileges you can provide excellent capability with 80/60/40 meters and a portable NVIS antenna.